CLAY CITY, KY., THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1909.

NO. 20.

TO DRILL FOR GAS.

J. C. Patrick is taking oil and gas leases in all the favorable territory of Powell county. He will begin drilling in a very short time, and hopes to at least get enough gas to supply the towns of Clay City and Stanton. Mr. Patrick has already a franchise to supply Stanton with natural gas, and now stands ready to bid on a franchise to furnish Clay City any time the Council will offer the same. Mr. Patrick already has one very fine gas well on Peck's creek. He says with two more such wells he is ready to begin laying a pipe line to the two cities.

Clay City should make no delay in offering a franchise for sale to furnish the city with natural gas, now that we have a prospective bidder. Mr. Patrick has the required capital to put the project through if he can only find the proper flow of gas under the ground, and he as well as other experts are sure the gas is here.

Deputy Head Consul the Modern Woodmen, J. W. Womack, has succeeded in getting enough charter applicants to organize a camp at this place and the lodge will be instituted in a few days. We consider the order worthy in every particular and doubtless many more of our young men would do well to join this lodge, at least from a moral point of view.

The Kentucky Bluegrass Seed Company, J. M. Bigstaff, and M. O. Cockrell, of Mt. Sterling; D. S. Gay, of Winchester; J. S. Wilson, of Wookford, and Catesby Spears, of Paris, have been sued in the Montgomery Circuit Court for $5,000 each. The petition alleges that they form a trust and control the price of blue grass seed and the product in violation of the Kentucky anti-trust laws.

Killed Near Winchester.

Hood Curtis shot W. R. Locknane on the Ruckerville pike near Winchester last Wednesday evening, and Locknane died at a Lexington hospital Thursday about one o'clock. The particulars in the case are not given to the public, but are now being brought out in the trial.

Curtis was raised in this county about two miles from this city, but moved to Clark county about three years ago. When he resided in this county he was a peaceable, quiet and sober gentleman, and everyone here was very much surprised to learn of his getting into such serious trouble. Locknane and Curtis were close neighbors and distantly related to each other.

Since the above was set in type the examining trial of Mr. Curtis has been completed and released without bail, the evidence showing a clear case of self defense.

Needs Corroboration.

A newspaper can never very creditably represent a town whose business men do not advertise. He may howl himself hoarse bragging about the vim, energy and enterprise of his town, but if his declarations are not backed up by a liberal amount of advertising by the business men of the town, the world will be slow to take his statement as true. It takes more than the unsupported testimony of the local newspaper man to prove to the world that his town is the financial center, the business center, the best market, and the best place on earth to buy goods; his evidence needs corroboration.

It will pay you to look at our line of Men's, Boys' and Youth's Clothing before making your purchase. Hardwick & Co., Stanton.

WORKING FOR GOOD ROADS.

The meeting of the directors of the Kentucky Good Roads Association gives proof that the work in behalf of navigable highways is going steadily on.

Just now the association is especially concerned in the Bosworth-Wyatt proposition for the amendment of the Constitution by which counties may levy for road-building purposes more than they are now permitted to do; by which, also, State aid may be given under certain restrictions. The adoption of that proposition being the immediate need of the champions of good roads, the association will from this time forth bend its efforts to arouse the interest of the voters. From one end of the State to the other there will be a wholesome agitation, that those who do not understand the value of the proposition or grasp the value of good roads may learn something to their advantage.

Any reasonable project for the acquisition and maintenance of good roads deserves unanimous support. When the Farm Life Commission appointed President Roosevelt made its report it dwelt upon the discovery that the farmers everywhere called for better roads. Like the farmers of the rest of the country, the farmers of Kentucky need good roads about as badly as their communities need good roads. The lack of roads compels them to endure isolation, inconvenience, discomfort and money losses.

A writer in the New York Evening Post goes into statistics on the subject. He consults various authorities and learns that the farmers of the country, from properly constructed roads, would be able to save $250,000,000 a year. In the matter of marketing the wheat crop alone the saving would amount to $10,000,000; in marketing the corn crop over $12,000,000, and in marketing the cotton crop about $5,000,000. The writer adds:

"Bad roads restrict educational facilities, limit the rural free-delivery service, and prevent the proper development of social life in the country. Good roads permit of grade schools in the country, extend the rural free-delivery service, and check the exodus of young men and women from the farm to the city. Already, in localities where roads have been improved, we see the movement from the city to the farm."

Kentucky, traversed by a network of excellent highways, hard and smooth in all kinds of weather, would be a new sort of Kentucky, and she would be a more prosperous and more contented Kentucky than ever she has been.—Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Mary Hoskin has returned from Ford, where she has been confined for a few weeks with pulmonary trouble, contracted while there on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Grant Elkin. Mrs. Hoskin is looking even much better than before her sickness.

Now the Time to Sow.

If cow peas have one half the value as a soil improver as the agricultural papers claim they have, farmers in Powell county have no excuse for having poor land, except that the fact has not been proven to them. We suggest that every one of our farmers sow this year on some poor land at least one or two acres. It takes only one bushel to the acre so the cost of seed is very light. When the pods begin to turn yellow the vines should be turned under. Some writers say that in doing this we add from ten to fifteen tons of the finest manure to the soil. It is worth trying by all.

Marriage Announcements.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Eaton announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Graham Eaton to Mr. Walter Turner McGuire. The wedding will take place at the bride's home in this city June 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Russell have announced the engagement of their sister, Miss Grace Russell, to Mr. Robert Delaware Otter, both of Louisville. The wedding will take place on June 23.

New Magistrate Appointed.

Governor Willson has appointed Richard Morton, Justice of the Peace in the upper district made vacant recently by Squire B. B. Townsend moving from the county.

Attorney Henry Watson, manager of the local telephone exchange and a most successful practitioner at the bar has announced for County Attorney of Montgomery county.

See our line of "Walk Over" Shoes and Oxfords, for Men, in the new Spring and Summer styles.

Hardwick & Co., Stanton.

Aldrich and the Tariff.

The Appeal said weeks ago that the tariff bill under discussion was a phony and predicted that after the people had tired of hearing tariff discussed the astute Mr. Aldrich would quietly introduce the schedules prepared by the trusts for enactment into law. Mr. Aldrich has verified our prediction; his schedules have been introduced and are certain of adoption.

Senator Aldrich dominates the senate as "Uncle" Joe rules the house. When an important corporation or trust measure is before the senate, it is the duty of this sagacious old senator to steer a majority of the senatorial sheep into the trust corral and see that they "bah" when the vote is taken. The successful manner in which Aldrich has handled the trusts' tariff interests shows conclusively that a small coterie of men dominate legislation and that the great majority in both the senate and house are simply barnacles on the United States treasury.

Under the present capitalist regime it would be far more economical to turn the law-making over to the trusts and the supreme court and dispense with the useless horde of time-serving politicians.—Appeal to Reason.

SHOULD NOMINATE BEST MEN.

The Democrats of Kentucky should be unusually careful this year in the character of men they nominate for office. The list of independent voters has grown so large that it is no longer possible for a party, though a majority party, to nominate any sort of men, label them with the party device, and expect them to win. The personality of the candidate is more closely inspected than ever before. The independent voters hold the Democratic party to a stricter accountability in that respect than they do the Republican party. The average independent voter in nine cases out of ten will vote for a worse Republican before he will for a bad Democrat. While the principle upon which he acts is a compliment to the Democratic party, it works hard upon election days. He expects more of the Democratic party in Kentucky than he does of the Republican party and as a matter of fact he has a right to do so, for the Democratic party as a whole in this State has all the best of it over the Republican party in all that goes to make good citizenship. It is consequently subjected to the severest test. Its candidates are more searchingly examined and its policies more generally discussed. It suffers for the slightest error, it frequently suffers when it has committed no error. If the independent voter, better, mug-wump or other nonde-script suffragist, finds the slightest real or imagined fault with the Democratic party, he usually shuts his eyes and seeks his solace in voting the Republican ticket. And yet, however much we may condemn his judgment and good sense we must yet admit the significance of his action and seek the remedy. Success at the polls is not necessarily a clean bill of health, sufficient to pass quarantine to a candidate or to a party. The first thing a party or a candidate should do before going to the polls is to deserve success.—Frankfort State Journal.

It is now claimed by some Republicans of the county that as we have a Republican majority in the Fiscal court we are sure to have a turnpike in the county from one end to the other. We have due respects for 'Squire Wm. Davis, than whom Powell county never had a better Magistrate. We are not acquainted with 'Squire Morton and shall say nothing derogatory to the Fiscal court majority until we learn more about its constituency.

But as to the turnpike proposition, which emanated from other lips than either of the two honorable Republican magistrates, we wish to remind our readers that John Langley is promised to build us pikes, and think it a waste of time and money for the Fiscal court to take this matter up. John says he wants to go back to Congress, we guess to finish up his pikes.

Fred D. Warren, managing editor of the Appeal to Reason at Girard, Kan., who personally offered a reward of $1,000 for the turn of Taylor and Finley to Kentucky two years ago, has been convicted for the use of the mails in making such offer and now must pay the penalty. He was tried before a Republican Federal Judge and by a jury every one of which was Republicans. Is it any wonder. Persons from this on had better know what they are doing when they offer such big rewards for fugitives from justice.

This paper is endeavoring to give its patrons the best service that is possible to give and all that the patronage will permit. men to deeds of violence. The lie will recoil upon its author's head. It is the unimpeachable truth, uttered upon justifiable occasion, that moves the subject of it to frenzy and murder.

Gen. Meeks is guilty of wilful misrepresentation in insinuating that the editor is a wholly irresponsible being. On the contrary, the editor is constantly on trial before the bar of public opinion. He is under a compelling obligation to deal justly with men and women or to destroy his newspaper by forfeiting public confidence. He carries a burden of public responsibility unequalled in almost any other pursuit or profession. He discharges a trusteeship for the public and is held to the most rigid accountability.

Remarkable Story

The story of Mrs. Matilda Warwick, of Kokomo, Ind., as told below, proves the curative properties of that well-known female remedy, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. Warwick says:

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

"I suffered from pains in my head, shoulders, limbs, side, stomach low down, dizziness, chills, nervousness, fainting spells and other female troubles. I was almost dead. Three doctors did not help me. At last, I took Cardui, and with the first bottle obtained relief. Now I am cured. But for Cardui, I would have been dead." Try Cardui.
